Communist China Frees Officer

HONG KONG (AP) - Looking "thin, pale and tired," a British officer detained in Communist China for 2 1/2 years crossed into Hong Kong today.

Peter Crouch was taken from the merchant vessel Demodocus when it was in Shanghai in April 1968. He told Hong Kong immigration officials at Lo Wu border crossing that he was informed of his impending release last Thursday.

The officials said Crouch carried some baggage, wore a pale blue sports shirt and blue trousers and looked tired, pale and thin.

He was the third prisoner the Chinese Communists have freed in recent months. Roman Catholic Bishop James E. Walsh, an American, was released in July after 12 years' detention, and British engineer George Watt was set free in August after serving eight months of a three-year sentence.

The Bullpups first score came in the second quarter when tailback Jessie Smith busted 1 yard for the touchdown. The one yard score was set up earlier by a 20 yard pass from Bullpup quarterback Richard Blankenship to end Ronald Marks, who carried the pass to the one vard line.

Following the touchdown, Rick Eisenback hauled in a pass from Blankenship for a two-point conversion.

The Bullpup defense held firm throughout the first half, recovering several fumbles and turning back any Poplar Bluff scoring threat. The Bullpups second TD came off a QB keeper by Blankenship, who darted around right end and with a key block from Greg Colwick, carried the ball for a 20 yard score. Fullback John Farris ran in the extra point, sending the Bullpups into a 16-0 half time

Both teams failed to score in the third quarter, as good team efforts from both sides blunted

Detroit sold outfielder and Stan Wayne Redmond to Philadelphia for an undisclosed amount of cash, and the Phillies assigned pitcher Bill Laxton outright to and Joe Pactwa from Syracuse, Eugene, Ore., of the PCL.

The Mets' expected winter house cleaning began Friday with the outright sale of third baseman Joe Foy to their Tidewater farm team in the International League.

Foy was the man New York had expected to solve its longstanding third base problem when he was acquired last winter from Kansas City for outfielder Amos Otis and pitcher Bob Johnson. But the deal backfired with Otis blossoming into an All Star and Foy batting a disappointing .236. He also committed 18 errors. So another new man, probably highly touted rookie Tim Foli, will inherit the third baseman's job next spring and the Mets hope they'll have more success the 42nd time around.

There was a flurry of minor trades and player transactions Friday as major league teams adjusted their rosters in anticipation of next month's winter meetings at Los Angeles.

Foy's slot on the Mets' 40-man roster was taken by pitcher Tommy Joe Moore, who was purchased from Tidewater. A converted outfielder, Moore was 3-8 for New York's Pompano Beach, Fla., farm club.

Milwaukee sent three players, including veteran catcher Gerry McNertney, to St. Louis in exchange for utilityman Carl Taylor and pitcher Jim Ellis.

McNertney hit .243 for the Brewers last year. Also moving to the St. Louis organization in the deal are pitchers George Lauzerique and Jesse Huggins.

Milwaukee also traded lefthanded pitcher Gary Timberlake to Oakland for third baseman Bill McNulty. Both spent last year in the minors, McNulty batting .295 for Iowa of the American Association and Timberlake 43 with Jacksonville of the International League.

Washington picked up Rich Scheinblum, a longtime Cleveland prospect, from Wichita of the American Association for cash and a minor league player to be named. Scheinblum hit .337 with 2 homers and 84 runs batted in for Wichita last season. To make room for him, the Senators sold pitcher Cisco Carlos to Denver of the American Association.

The World Champion Baltimore Orioles made their first post-season player move selling relief pitcher A Severinsen to the San Diego Padres. Severinsen was 46 with Rochester and led the International League with 22 saves last year.
